The testimony of five witnesses was submitted by the people, after which an adjournment was taken until Friday morning at 10 o'clock. ### What Cuts Down the Profit.

You have no idea of the calls made upon the average merchant for contributions to every conceivable charity. The senior member of this concern was going over the books in January, and when he glanced at the footings in the charity book, as we call it—a book where every dollar expended in charity is entered—he said something must be done. Either the house had to chop on charity accounts or go out of business.

Some persons imagine that these demands are made periodically. They are innocent. All applications of this character must come to my desk, and there isn't a day that I receive less than a half dozen letters begging for assistance, while the personal applications are so numerous that we have had to make a rule that they must be made between certain hours. Some of these charities are exacting. One when refused threatened us with a boycott. We probably would not have suffered financially from anything of the sort, but we didn't care to have any notoriety in connection with such a matter and submitted to being bled, for that was what it amounted to.

More Indian Schools Needed.

In the last two years, and particularly within the last six months, the Indian schools, as a whole, have filled up with pupils as at no former time. Almost all the schools are crowded, many are waiting enlargements and some reservations are in pressing need of boarding schools—among them the Keweenaw, the Navajo, the Apache, the Papago and the Lower Spokane. On the five reservations just specified, containing over 30,000 Indians, and a school population (five to eighteen) of not far from 5,000, there are only four boarding schools with a capacity of 300 pupils. On one of these reservations (Keweenaw) there are four schools with a capacity for about 400 more, leaving 7,500 children upon these five reservations with no local school accommodations.—New York Ledger.

What Are Women Coming to With Their Nerves.

"For years I was troubled with weak nerves and a bad stomach affection. Some called it heart disease, congestion of the liver, malaria, inflammation of the stomach. I was confined to my bed, could keep nothing on my stomach and so I was almost moribund. I took Dr. Greene's Nerve. The result was truly marvelous. From a first dose I date my improvement. I am now in better health than for years previous. Words are inadequate to describe the wonderful curative properties which this remedy possesses. I am satisfied that the majority of this can be cured by this excellent remedy. I deem Dr. Greene's Nerve the best of all medicines." Miss E. DURELL, Kennebunk, Me."
